A few days ago, Jessica Duncan, a senior at Northern Michigan University, landed in Uganda. Jessica is majoring in social work with a minor in human development. She will spend her fall semester at Acres of Hope completing her senior social work field placement. She met Geoffrey (the director of Acres of Hope) when she was on a mission trip with World Orphans. She is the first student at NMU to complete her placement in a third world country.

At the beginning of the month we planted seedlings to assist in providing food for the children and house mothers. One of the steps to becoming self-sustainable is to develop these gardens and acquire livestock. We pray for the right amount of rain and sunshine that only the Lord can provide. The team from Mooresville, NC had to postpone their August trip due to the travel advisory. We missed them deeply, but we take the safety of our visitors seriously and we hope to see them in April.

We are happy to report that the fourth pod house is complete, but $5,000 is needed for furnishing the home so that children can occupy it. The fifth house is still under construction.

Please continue to pray for the leadership and those who support Acres of Hope. Pastor Geoffrey is currently battling malaria. As the director, his health and well-being are crucial to the progress and function of Acres of Hope. His daughter Joan also became very ill and had to return home from the school she attends in Kampala. Pray for the Lord to raise up compassionate followers of Christ who can keep His work in Nebbi going. We are so thankful for all of the love and support we feel every day. Keep it coming!
